LOOKAROUND FINANCES AND ADVERTISING RATES.

Ed Welti

Last week we had one of our less than regular Lookaround Committee meetings. Usually these are little more than a check that everything is going well, perhaps with some discussion on how we can improve circulation, format, exposure etc. Now, however, it is apparent that this year we have been below the breakeven point, and that we need to make some financial adjustments to improve our situation.

This is, of course, unsurprising, given the economic situation generally. I am glad to say that our circulation, at least as far as we can tell, remains stable, as are the takings from donations. It is true that we get less from the 'pots' than we did before the pandemic, but over the course of this year, we are taking, on average, a little more than we did last year. We do seem to be getting fewer one-off adverts though, and generally they are smaller. Inevitably too (given the general inflationary pressures) our expenses have gone up.

Since we took over Lookaround in 2019 we have kept our suggested donation and our advertising rates the same. Whilst we were making a surplus this seemed only sensible, as over time our intention is to maintain a reserve, make some donations back into the community, and generally break even. An aim we have been achieving without difficulty.

In fact, the suggested donation for Lookaround has been £1 since the start of 2010. Going back further in time, our advertising rates have been static since August 1999 when a 2" single column advert went up from £8 to £10, and a half page advert went up from £22 to £25. It's worth noting that the suggested donation was raised from 25p to 30p at the same time. The donation has gone up several times subsequently, but not the advertising rates.

No doubt you can tell where this is leading. We have decided to raise the rates for advertising. This will be from September onwards and will mean a 2" single column advert will be £12, and a half page advert £30. A full table of the new rates will be in the next edition (August). It is with regret that we do this, and we hope it will not deter our regular advertisers, who renew their adverts year after year, despite all the recent troubles. We really do thank them all, we rely on them so much. To encourage Event adverts we have recently been posting Event notifications on the

It may be that we will need to review the suggested donation too. But not yet, as we are researching using other means to donate, via smartphones for example, rather than just relying on cash when fewer and fewer people have a £1 coin in their pocket. We will assess the effectiveness of those changes, and those above, before any further adjustments to rates, or to the suggested donation.

THE ZERO PANTRY – CLOSING DOWN

Kim Bradshaw

This is an article I have dreaded writing but unfortunately, I must admit defeat and inform you that The Zero Pantry has become another victim of the economic crisis and will be closing its doors for the last time on Monday 31st July 2023 at 5pm.

We have had a wonderful 2.5 years at 6 Finkle Street but alas we can no longer meet the rising costs with the dwindling sales and regrettably must hang up our hat.

However, all is not doom and gloom as our Kirkby Lonsdale store will remain open and you will still be able to shop online for all your daily needs, plastic free.

Sedbergh welcomed The Zero Pantry with open arms, and we have made many, many friends along the way. No longer customers – forever friends. Thank you to everyone who came in and put the world to rights with me – I will miss our debates. I do just want to thank all of those that supported us, shopped with us or just popped in to say Hi. I will miss you all.

And on a final note, to all the residents of Sedbergh and surrounding areas – remember that if you want Sedbergh to survive as a town you, collectively 'you' the local folk of Sedbergh, are going to have to support local businesses and shop local. This town cannot survive without your support.

BUS SERVICE On Behalf Of Some Bus Users Sedbergh Information Centre Manager

At the time of writing the daily weekday Sedbergh to Kendal bus service operated by Woofs will end on July 21st. The current service is not commercially viable.

The withdrawal of this service is devastating for many people in the community leaving those without their own transport unable to access their banks, hospital appointments or facilities in Kendal. They will be unable to continue the social activities they currently enjoy, volunteer commitments or meet with family and friends, thereby detrimental to independence and leading to isolation and negative health impacts.

This bus service also provided a connection to the main railway station at Oxenholme and Kendal bus station - vital for wider travel and particularly beneficial for those coming on walking holidays to Sedbergh.

Whilst many people reading this may take the view that the loss of this bus service may not affect them, anyone can find themselves temporarily without a car or unable to drive in addition to those who choose to reduce car usage for environmental or economic reasons. There are currently a number of hospitality vacancies in Sedbergh and employers are bringing young staff in from outside the area, providing accommodation but these staff often have no transport and are often not in roles which pay enough to buy a car or afford the current £35 taxi fare from Sedbergh to Kendal.

For our own young people a town with no public transport becomes a restricting place to live and it doesn't foster independence or enable them to follow up opportunities.

At the Parish Council meeting on Thursday 8th June the local Councillors said that Tim Farron local MP and representatives from the WaF council will be meeting with Michael Gove in the hope of being able to access Levelling Up monies to provide a subsidy to support a bus service. If that conversation is not successful then other sources of funding will be explored by councillors and officers.

The Western Dales Bus service which is operated by Volunteers currently is committed to service elsewhere for four days of the week so could only offer a service on one weekday

(in addition to the Saturday service) if funding is found.

Unfortunately, the student bus which currently runs during term time to Kendal college at the beginning and end of the day is unable to carry other passengers as it does not have the required low floor.

Tim Farron is launching a petition to support the continuation of a bus service and this will be available to sign at the Information Centre and hopefully other locations locally (information will be displayed at the bus stops) as well as online.

WOOFS OF SEDBERGH CUSTOMER NOTICE

IT IS WITH DEEP REGRET AND HEAVY HEARTS THAT WE NEED TO CANCEL THE W1 SERVICE. THE FINAL DAY OF SERVICE WILL BE FRIDAY 21ST JULY 2023.

SINCE COVID, IT HAS NOT BEEN ECONOMICALLY VIABLE TO RUN AND IS COSTING THOUSANDS EACH YEAR TO SUBSIDISE. WE CAN NO LONGER SUSTAIN THIS. WE HAVE VALUED YOUR CONTINUED CUSTOM OVER THE YEARS.

THANK YOU

DRIVERS AND BUS SERVICES

Myles Ripley We were all saddened to hear of the imminent demise of the Woofs bus service to and from Kendal and we thank the Woofs for continuing to run this service at a loss for so long. Both Westmorland and Furness Council and Tim Farron, our MP, are trving to find another operator to continue the service, but without a subsidy this is likely to be difficult. If no operator is found, the council is likely to ask Western Dales Bus if they can help, but they are already running five services each week and would need more volunteer drivers to be able to provide another one.

Another service that could help some people get to and from Kendal and other locations for medical appointments etc is the Cumbria Voluntary Social Car Scheme which again relies on drivers. From their literature.... " Examples of journeys include getting to doctors and dentist appointments, shopping, making public transport connections and visiting friends. The scheme provides transport to members of the community of any age (under 18's must be accompanied by an adult) who cannot make their journey by public or private transport."

You may have worked out by now that we are short of drivers to continue to provide these services.

If you are interested in driving for the Western Dales Bus you will need to have D1 on your license and then

Western Dales Bus will organise MIDAS training for you. To drive for the Voluntary car scheme is simpler in many ways but you need to have your own car suitably insured and MOT'd and have a clean driving license.

There have been lots of comments about regret for the loss of this bus service. Offering yourself to assist in one of the above may mitigate against the loss of the service. Please consider volunteering your services.

For Western Dales Bus, please contact wdbusops@gmail.com and for the voluntary social car scheme please contact mylesripley@btinternet.com

> VOLUNTARY SOCIAL CAR SCHEME

> > Myles Ripley

The social car scheme is provided for those without a car who cannot otherwise access public transport for journeys such as hospital/medical appointments (and can't use patient transport service), hair appointments, shopping, other public transport such as train services etc etc. It is heavily subsidised by Furness & Westmorland council.

But we only have a small number of drivers so can't meet every request! You will see in a separate article that we are looking for more drivers and a new coordinator. Please consider this.

In order that we can make our service more flexible, we are changing our contact details to an email of vscs@gmail.com and a mobile number of 07880161648

MEALS ON WHEELS

Colin Cowperthwaite A reminder that our local twiceweekly Meals on Wheels service is still up and running in Sedbergh and the surrounding area.

Hot and tasty meals are prepared by the chefs at the Red Lion kitchen, and are available each Tuesday and Thursday lunchtime. They are delivered directly to your door by our small but dedicated team of volunteer drivers. The price of each two course meal is currently just 5 pounds.

If you, your family members or anyone you know may be finding it difficult or uneconomic to make their own meals, or indeed would like an occasional alternative to their own cooking, please do not hesitate to

Voluntary Social Car Scheme - Co-ordinator needed in

How can I find out more? If you are interested in co-ordinating or driving for the scheme and would like an informal chat, please contact: Katy on 07788 396194 contact me (see below). If I do not reply immediately then please leave a message and I shall get back to you as soon as possible, and will gladly add you to the list.

There is no age limit nor any other criteria for using this service, neither is there any long-term commitment to receive meals each week, only on those days which might suit you best.

Finally, should anyone be interested in helping us to carry out occasional meal delivery duties, we would be delighted to have you on board to join our small group of volunteers. It would provide an excellent opportunity to get to know more people in the area, and to explore the area around Sedbergh a little better. A clean driving license is of course required, and duties would involve only a couple of hours of your time two or three times a month. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you would like to consider becoming a volunteer for this important community service. Many thanks.

BOXES OF HOPE CUMBRIA

Pam Dent

It was with huge regret that the Trustees of Boxes of Hope Cumbria took the decision at the start of June to close the annual Christmas Shoebox Appeal due to the extortionate cost of exporting the boxes to Europe now that we are no longer in the EU.

For the last couple of years we have worked via a British-run charity based in Holland and thus avoided paying 20% VAT on each box but that is no longer possible and, despite the best efforts of our trustees and the trustees of our partner charity in Romania, no viable way forward could be found.

Whilst we are shocked and saddened at the way things have turned out, we can be proud that we have collected - and personally handed out – over 97,000 boxes for some of Romania's poorest children in the ten years of our existence. Heartfelt thanks to all of you for your amazing support over the years.

ROYAL BRITISH LEGION

Keith Birbeck

The Sedbergh Branch of the Royal British Legion (RBL) will be attending the Sedbergh Artisan Markets on 29 July and 26 August. Members will be on hand to outline and discuss all aspects of RBL work, both National and Local. Primarily this includes; help and support provided for Armed Forces veterans and dependants, fundraising events for the annual Remembrance Day and opportunities for members of our community to support, volunteer or join our local branch.

MYELOMA UK

Sarah E Woof

I have been thinking of having a fund-raising event for this ever since one of my brothers was diagnosed with Myeloma in 2005. He sadly died in 2007 so my 'thinking" has finally matured into 'doing', and I invite you to come and have a brew and biscuits/cake and support this worthwhile cause.

I am using the Methodist Schoolroom in Dent as it is a great venue, level access and some parking, though if the weather obliges, we will have some tables outside.

Myeloma UK is the only organisation in the UK which supports people with this type of blood cancer and at any one time there are around 24,000 people living with it in the UK. They receive no government funding.

The brews and 'eats' will be pay by donation, there will be a competition of skill to tempt you to spend a little more. All welcome Inc children and dogs.

HARDSHIP FUND

For many of us these are difficult times, particularly for those who have lost their jobs or who have been furloughed.

If you are in financial need or have a real need for an item which you do not have the wherewithal to buy, then the Sedbergh United Charities may be able to help you.

Or, if a friend or neighbour is in need of financial help, then please let them know about us.

To apply for help or if you would like to know more about the Sedbergh United Charities Hardship Fund then please contact:

Tony Reed Screen (a865@btinternet.com or 015396 21081)

Or John Sykes (jmsykes100@gmail.com or 07786 384917)

All applications will be treated in confidence.

Sedbergh United Charities are very grateful to Sedbergh School and the Community Trust who are both helping us with this fund.

as a monosyllabic caveman. Shocking for pupils and colleagues alike this hilarious performance typified MAFR in that it was funny, unashamed and perfectly pitched. When a spoof 'Micky Raw Sedbergh' twitter account emerged in 2012 readers were fairly sure that it was a parody - but with MAFR anything was possible.

Michael was unashamed of his determination to do things the old way and found that his genuine charm and warmth meant others wanted to accommodate him. His reluctance to use a computer was warmly indulged by the school secretary who typed his hand written pupil reports for many years after the Common Room embraced a computerised report system.

Michael was a generous, entertaining and warm host who welcomed many colleagues and former pupils to his home. An evening at one of his successive Sedbergh residences was a richly sought after prize, particularly as it came with viewing rights to Michael's extensive collection of historic artefacts, modern art and an enviable library. Conversation was lively as Michael brought together friends from different aspects of his life, regailing them with stories of his work on radio and television comedy, and name dropping with the ease.

During a stint playing for the Harlequins Michael gained what he described as his 'cauliflower ears' as well as a keen sense of sportsmanship. At Sedbergh he coached the First XV from 1987-1991 and later moved to the B1 team with whom he stuck for much of his career.

Sedbergh has benefitted from Michael's writing and attention to literary detail over many decades, first during his time as editor of the Sedberghian and latterly as Michael was appointed to chronicle various aspects of the school's history. Prior to retiring from teaching Michael was invited to write 'Thread of gold'. a history of Sedbergh School Football Club. He approached this with his trademark thoroughness reading every historic issue of the Sedberghian magazine, Captains' minute book, Governors' minute book and personal memoir available.

In recent years Michael undertook the substantial role of school historian, seeking to research and write a new history of the school in time for the 500th anniversary. Michael's diligence and integrity made him the perfect person for this role. He sought to accurately represent the community he served while ensuring that the individuals involved were portrayed compassionately. Michael's portrayal weaves the events of school life into the context of national and international history in a manner that elevates the book beyond the ambitions of many coffee table school histories. Michael died whilst writing the final chapter. The completist in him would have been slightly frustrated with the premature ending to his career as a writer but the comedian in him would have chuckled at the off beat timing.

Michael travelled to the Baltic states in mid May for a much anticipated holiday. Unsurprisingly he travelled with a suitcase full of history books about the region, keen as always to expand his knowledge and engage deeply with his subject matter. Michael died in his sleep on holiday.

Michael's death is a great loss to his many friends in the Sedbergh community and further afield. His was a special man who will be sadly missed.

KEITH WOOD'S SEND OFF! Sandra Gold-Wood There are so many people to thank I don't know where to start, but I'll try. If you were there at St Andrews on Saturday June 17th you will know that the service reflected the man. beautiful and full of surprises. The whole thing was a true celebration of a life well lived and showed that Keith, (Woody) was loved and adored by his family and friends, some of whom travelled from all over the UK to attend. And I know many of you cut holiday's short or rearranged trips in order to be there to honour Keith. thank you all. It was a simply a wonderful 'Do'.

Words cannot express how much Ewan Lewis and the members of the Town Band brought to the occasion. They were magnificent, as were the pipers who majestically escorted Keith from the Church. Carole Marsden delivered the Eulogy with a light and personal touch and I thank her for all the support she gave me throughout this difficult time. I thank family and friends who took on the difficult job of carrying Keith in and out of Church. Thanks also to Andy Burgess, and David Crouchley who took the time to visit Keith in St Johns' Hospice. Thanks to the Church wardens who do far more than we realise to make sure things run smoothly. I offer my thanks too to Margie McVoy for accompanying our grandson Jonathan in singing Danny Boy. Thanks to Edward Waller of J.J.

Martins for guiding me through each step toward making Keith's send off such a perfect occasion.

Thanks go also to a Cracking Spread, and to the White Hart staff who ran the bar at PH. Not forgetting Gordon and Ernie for setting up the slide show, the sound and proving a little Woody style entertainment. Plus, thanks to the Sedbergh Songsters for delivering a super rendition of 'Take me back to the Howgills', which was one of Keith's Pantomime favourites. However, a very big helping of thanks must go to Stuart and Brenda Byatt who prepared and set up the People's Hall, served tea and coffee, cleared up afterwards and assisted and supported me with all the various arrangements. And are still helping me with the inevitable paper work that has to be dealt with.

Thanks to the Sedbergh community in general and all the good friends who visited and did jobs for me, especially David and Margaret Nelson, Mitch and Clare who were always on hand. I wish I could mention you all and if I have forgotten anyone I apologise. Believe me I am so very grateful to all of you. I do hope you won't stop visiting. I must mention the district nurses, doctors and staff here and at St John's who provided Keith with care in his last months of life.

There is a video of the funeral. I not sure how to send it to anyone but do get touch. I am sure I will have worked it out, with a little help from my friends, by the time this message of thanks goes into print. With love Sandra.

PEOPLE'S HALL

Pam Drower Stuart Wetherell Contact: Steven Longlands (Chair) 015396 20885

We last reported on activities at the People's Hall in the April Lookaround. We are now three months on and much has happened.

Firstly, we have had a healthy number of bookings over the past three months and have received very positive feedback from visitors to family events who have been impressed by our facilities. Financially we are keeping our heads above water. Refurbishments and Improvements are ongoing and due to a generous donation, we will be able to continue improving the Hall for the benefit of the Sedbergh community. Watch this space for updates.

Secondly, as reported in April's edition, our 'Room Hire Fees' increased on 1st July. These new fees run through to 30 June 2024 and can be viewed on our website www.sedberghpeopleshall.org.

Finally, but not least, as many will already know, Sedbergh has lost two of its well-loved and respected individuals - both who have contributed much to the community at large - Bill Lowis and Keith Wood. However, some may not know that both also played a significant part in the smooth running of the People's Hall. The Hall Management Committee wishes to offer thanks and appreciation for the contributions of these two former members of the committee. Our thoughts go out to both their families, at this difficult time. Both Bill and Keith gave generously of their time and efforts to enable the hall to remain the valuable resource it is for the people of Sedbergh and surrounding areas. Bill had been a member of the committee since June 2015, during which time he not only worked hard to keep the building well maintained and clean, but also kept the planter in bloom throughout the year and contributed many of his beautiful landscape photographs of the area which have decorated the walls of the hall. His gentle, supportive presence will be greatly missed at committee meetings.

Similarly, Keith has lent a great deal of support to the People's Hall over the years. Initially, out of the limelight by supporting his wife, Sandra Gold-Wood, who as vicechair and an active committee member relied on him helping her with her many Hall projects. Latterly, he was directly active as a member of the committee, providing common sense and a hands-on approach. It is Keith we must thank for bringing the Hall into the 21st century, at last! Through researching and organising the fitting of our new digital locking system, he transformed entry to the Hall for both users and the committee... with no more lost keys!

Both Bill and Keith will be remembered by the committee, not only for all their practical contributions to the committee meetings and its work for the hall, but also for their individual senses of humour, kindness and generous natures which have always helped us to navigate our way through monthly agendas. Gentlemen – you will be sorely missed!

A DAY AT THE FAIR

John Considine

When I came down from the station to the river on the Sunday of Appleby Horse Fair, I had expected a big crowd, a dense crowd, with the suppressed energy that there always is in such crowds. There were lots of people on the street, to be sure, and more sitting on the grassy bank above the river. Some of them were definitely from the horse world: some looked like local people; there were a good few police and RSPCA officers in high-vis vests. There were horses on the street, too, quite calm as the people moved around them. Down in the river, there were children plaving in the shallows, and a horse or two being washed in the deeper water near the bridge, while others waited in the sunshine. You wouldn't call it a timeless scene, because there's nothing timeless about a high-vis vest, but there was a timeless contentment to it

Myeloma UK Coffee Morning

THURSDAY JULY 20th 9.30am to 11am Methodist Schoolroom, Laning, Dent. All Welcome

I was looking for my sister Mary and our friend Kis, and found them soon enough, and we sat together on the grass for a while, taking it all in, until Kis got up, puzzled me by taking off her boots, and went down to the riverside. A little later, she and Mary were chatting to a man from Dublin with a horse in a rope halter, and before long Kis was taking the horse into the Eden. The man from Dublin was putting a lot of confidence in a stranger, and he was right to: she's a professional, with a real, magical talent, and it was a pleasure to see her persuading his horse to trust her, and riding it into the deeper water. (Now I understood about the boots.) Soon afterwards, another horse with a couple of lads on it stumbled, and one of the lads came off, and floundered about: the man from Dublin was neither young nor athletic, but he plunged to the rescue in a moment, and all was well.

There were streams of people and horses going up and down Battlebarrow, to and from Fair Hill, passing each other with fairly good humour. Some rather flashy riding was going on: young male riders on the whole, and theirs were almost the only horses which I noticed looking stressed that day. Up at Fair Hill, there was already a sense of an ending. Travelling people's vehicles were leaving: big SUVs with Irish plates, a car full of young women in extraordinary makeup. The stalls were doing quiet business. You could buy horse tack, or cooking pots for use over an open fire, or hot dogs, or plastic toys of the sort which people buy on days out with small children.

You could have your palm read by a lady who had once told Kevin Keegan's fortune. The National Equine Welfare Council had a stall.

The temporary bar up at Fair Hill was closed that day, but a couple of pubs were open in the town. Travelling people and locals were drinking peacefully at the Midland, up by the station. The bar staff said that they'd had no trouble during the fair. and that they'd heard of none down at the Grapes. Mary and Kis and I went down there, and it was loud and jolly: beer in plastic glasses in the bar, or in cans from a temporary bar serving people on the street, which was closed to traffic. A huge man from Leeds was sitting outside with some cider, looking at a mare which he had just bought. He said that he hadn't allowed his young son to come to Appleby this year: the boy had been playing the fool a bit of late, and the fair was no place for silliness. The children who were handling horses, or going around with parents who were clearly there on horse business, certainly weren't playing the fool: they all looked as if they knew what they were doing. And there were a lot of them. Going to Appleby isn't one of those dying traditions which the old people keep up while the young lose interest.

The only drama which we saw that day was outside the Grapes. One of the shafts of a two-wheeled carriage broke, a man who had been in the carriage was dragged along the tarmac, the horse was very frightened. Every bystander seemed to know what to do: as with the boy in the water earlier, people were looking out for each other, and for the horse. Not long afterwards, the street was being cleaned up before re-opening to traffic, and the man from Leeds led his mare away. He would be on the road for a while, he told us: sometimes he would take three weeks from Appleby to Leeds, once he had done it in three days. There goes a free man, I thought.

Some travelling people behave badly on the way to and from Appleby — we all know that — and they give the community a bad name. I'd expected to see some lairy goings-on at the fair. Maybe I would have on another day, or at another hour. But all I saw was young and old having a day out, and a great many fine horses, being managed by men and women who knew what they were doing. There was a good energy there, a living heritage.

FOUNDATION FOR COMMON LAND

Claire Braeburn Project Officer – Yorkshire Dales As we see the end of lambing season for our commoners in the Yorkshire Dales, attention turns to the various public events happening in our area where you can meet a commoner, see some of the breeds of sheep they work with and learn how they are sheared. In addition, learn more about peat, the wildlife habitats commonly found on commons and support the future sustainability of this ancient practice.

Come and see us at these family friendly, FREE events:

1. Farfield Mill (Community Gallery) – Sedbergh, exhibition from June – Sept. Free entry.

2. Skipton Sheep Day – Sunday 25th June. Shearing and sharing. See their facebook page.

3. Take the commons to town – Cliffe Castle, Keighley - Saturday 1st July with RBST.

4. Twistleton Hall, Ingleton, LA6 3JH – 22/23rd July. Meet a commoner and learn about the wool trade (note: there is no parking at the farmhouse)

5. Take the commons to town – Preston Markets Event – Saturday 29th July with RBST.

6. SheepFest – Sedbergh, Saturday 26th August. A fun filled family day with a plethora of sheep themed events throughout the day.

7. Environment Day – Sunday 10th September, Skipton Town Hall. Discussing habitats, peat, wildlife, carbon, and sustainable farming (this event has more places available if you would like to join me).

As well as public facing events, a residential on Ingleborough where 32. 10/11-vear-olds from St Stephens Catholic Primary School, Skipton will spend three days discovering, conserving, and learning about the common including a trip to the famous show cave and Gaping Gill. The children will visit a working farm and understand more about gathers, shedding and shearing, do some drystone walling and see the processes of a dairy farm. This residential is one of a number the YDNP team have delivered as part of the John Muir Awards (JMA) which is about connecting people to nature and supporting sustainability for the future. The Our Uplands Common Project has four main aims and educating and sharing the work of the commoners and what commons are is a major strand. The others are sharing best practice and empowering commoners to increase carbon storage, protect historic sites and enhance wildlife and habitats and working with partners to secure the heritage of this work in the future.

This month we returned to Brant Fell where we consulted with the commoners of the Natural Flood Management report delivered by JBA Consulting. On recommendations and discussions with the graziers in March, the team proposed a number of options despite Brant Fell being incredibly steep where a number of NFM solutions would not be possible. Over the coming months we will be working with our partners to refine the plan before going to tender the work for the priority areas. The report followed a habitat survey, which mapped any sightings of Yellowhammers, and the recommendations were to increase the flora for the birds. In addition, an archaeological walkover survey conducted by YDNP Historic England Team, discovered 75 more sites previously unrecorded of the HER (Historic Environment Records). The NFM survey incorporated both these reports as part of the team's recommendations.

June/July is the time where commoners gather their sheep of the moors for shearing. This ancient practice culminates on top of a common where a number of farmers meet and gather their sheep into a large pen where they are shedded (split) into their heft for clipping, dipping and tupping (mating) at various times during the farming year. It's a fast-paced community of dogs, commoners and sheep which sets apart these practices from the lowland counterparts.

We are delighted to report that the project has been extended to end December 2024 and its legacy will hopefully ensure the sustainability of the uplands farmers in a period of crucial change. For more information visit

Farm Walk: Cattle, Carbon, Conservation, Climate and Conversation

Wednesday 23 August, 10.30am – 3.30pm

Former Friends of the Dales trustee, Yorkshire Dales farmer, Anthony Bradley will lead a four-mile guided walk around key parts of his 90 acre farm near Long Preston, to talk about some of the science behind grazing cattle in a traditional, rotational way – a methodology that makes economic sense as well as being carbon neutral. There will also be chance to observe habitat creation and look at soil and its role in the carbon cycle. Due to livestock, no dogs are allowed on this walk. Place limited.

NEW YDNP GRANTS PROGRAMME FOR COMMUNITY AND HERITAGE PROJECTS IN THE DALES

Mike Appleton

Local charity Yorkshire Dales Millennium Trust (YDMT) has launched a new grants scheme for projects and organisations that benefit the people, landscape and wildlife in and around the Yorkshire Dales and Nidderdale.

The scheme can support a wide range of projects, including natural, built and cultural heritage, access improvements, educational and training initiatives, and activities that support community development. Grants can also contribute to an organisation's core costs such as rent, insurance and volunteer travel expenses.

Grants of £250 to £10,000 are available, and there could be larger grants for exceptional projects. Mike Appleton, YDMT's Grants Officer, said: "Our new grants scheme aims to improve community cohesion, reduce the impacts of climate change and biodiversity loss, and help to conserve and protect the area's fantastic built and cultural heritage.

"We've designed the application process to be simple and straightforward while ensuring that we get enough information to make quick decisions for projects that will make a real difference. Alongside grants, we can also provide advice and support to strengthen applications and to enable projects to have the maximum impact."

The grants scheme is supported by an award from Postcode Earth Trust thanks to funds raised by players of People's Postcode Lottery.

Laura Chow, Head of Charities at People's Postcode Lottery, said: "We are delighted to back the crucial work of YDMT, including the local good causes they support. The landscapes, villages and towns of the Yorkshire Dales and Nidderdale are much-loved, and it is fantastic to know that funds will be used to support such a wide range of community and heritage projects."

Applications for the programme are now open. Visit www.ydmt.org/whatwe-do/grants/grants to download the application form and guidance notes. Applications can be submitted at any time and decisions are usually made within six weeks.

For more information, please contact Mike Appleton on 015242 51002 or email grants@ydmt.org

SEDBERGH LADIES N.F.U. Growing Well Kendal

Caroline Sandys-Clarke On 16th May our President Anne Sykes welcomed Sinead McCann who came to talk to us about Growing Well. Growing Well is an organic farm of about 6 acres rented from Low Sizergh Farm and was started 19 years ago to support adults over 18 in South Cumbria and North Lancashire who suffered with mental health problems.

The aim was to take people either by GP referrals, mental health teams, friends or family, or by self-referrals and provide growing and working on the land activities. This is a free service as Growing Well is a charity funded by grants, donations and monies received for produce grown on the farm.

People partake for about a year, one day a week and this has been found to increase self-esteem and help people overcome loneliness and self-exclusion. Goals are set to get them back into work if appropriate and recovery through activity. Beneficiaries are referred to as volunteers because they attend Growing Well of their own volition. Growing Well have a crop share scheme with over 100 local customers and also sell the produce through Low Sizergh Barn shop and the recently opened second site at Tebay Services.

Volunteer groups also prepare a daily meal for everyone on site. There are a wide variety of people working on the site including Asylum Seekers currently in hotels in Barrow and Carlisle. Although these volunteers are from a variety of countries, they increase their language skills and also benefit from Team working. Sinead was warmly thanked by Anne for coming to talk to us.

There will be no more meetings until 19th September when Sandra Gold Wood is coming to talk to us about The Canary Girls. Visitors are always welcome at our meetings which take place in the committee room of The People's Hall at 7.30pm.

DENTDALE, HEAD TO FOOT Visit to Levens Hall & Gardens Andrew Povey

The June meeting of Head to Foot was a trip to Levens Hall, just outside of Kendal. This magnificent house and gardens is owned by the National Trust and is well worth a visit. It has an intriguing history that dates back many hundreds of years. The 2nd June was a brilliant sunny day, just perfect for ambling around the garden and cooling off in the house.

The flower beds were ablaze with colour, red, purple and white flowers all set amongst the carefully crafted bushes and trees. Perhaps one of the best examples of topiary anywhere. The gardeners among us came away inspired to improve on our own patches. The vegetable garden section provoked comparisons with our own efforts and indeed, discussions on what some of the more unusual plants were!

The café provided very welcome and delicious cakes. drinks and lunch. Impossible to resist!

The July meeting on Friday 7th July is another day visit, a rail trip from Dent to Carlisle. The train from Dent Station is at 10.47am.

KILLINGTON W.I. The Afternoon WI for the Entire District

Wendy Fraser-Urquhart

I think that the sun has been shining every day since I wrote my last report. If it keeps on like this, then next month, I shall be able to begin with comments about the hosepipe ban! As I write this [14th June], it is only 10 days until Midsummer's Day, and then the daylight hours will begin getting shorter again. Where does the time go?

Well, for members of Killington WI, some of it goes having fun with friends. Yesterday a group of us set off for our annual outing. We visited the Carnforth Station Heritage Centre, its claim to fame being that it was the location for filming the famous vintage film, "Brief Encounter". There are several interesting galleries, exhibitions, small retail outlets, but most importantly a refreshment room serving varied, excellent and reasonably priced food. Mmm... After lunch a number of us took advantage to the Film Room, a mini cinema, in which to sit down and watch the film in the subdued lighting and let our food digest. Dare I say it? – the sound track might have had the accompaniment of gentle snoring! No such noise was heard at another outing this month when several members joined Casterton W I's open meeting to hear the story of a 'Big House', on the shore of Lake Windermere.

No raffle this month. No competition this month. I am sorry to deprive you of your monthly excitement! However, people insist on growing older. Before our next meeting Pat Allen and Joyce Cox will have added another year. We trust that they enjoyed their birthdays and are able to ignore the increasing wrinkles!

Our next meeting on Tuesday 11th July 2023 will be another "jolly". We gather for our Annual Garden Party at Sally's house. This is always a special occasion.

SEDBERGH W.I.

Moira Folks

After five weeks of the most wonderful weather, I have ever known in Sedbergh, I settle down on Lookaround deadline morning (June 15th) to write my report, with one event still to happen: book club this afternoon.

Anne Pitt begins our report: 'The walking group struck lucky yet again on May 18th when they once again enjoyed a perfect weather day for their circular walk from Sizergh Castle, following a route up towards Helsington, then veering northwestwards down into the valley and plain, before heading southwards towards the Kent estuary. However, once past the Brigsteer area, the return leg went eastwards over the hill and back to Sizergh Castle where they rounded off the walk with, of course essentially, tea and cake!'

We had a very illustrious visitor to speak to our main meeting in the People's Hall on June 14th: Count Nikolai Ilkovitch Vandzhra from Ukraine, who wore his regional costume! He treated us to a trip round his home territory of Karpati, in the eastern part of the beautiful mountainous Carpathian region in southwest Ukraine which now has borders with Slovakia. Poland and Romania, Count Nikolai's life has been as colourful as his costume. From being taken from his home at age six in the 1950s to live in a children's home when his parents were imprisoned in Siberia, to going into the Soviet army as a young man, being trained in modern languages, and eventually working at the Soviet Embassy in London where he looked after documents and diplomats and then hosted Soviet students in the summer holidays. In 1992 Ukraine became free of the Soviet Union and in 2006 he married an English woman and took British citizenship. They lived in Yorkshire first and then moved to Cumbria. Before our lockdown in 2020, the Ukrainian Embassy had called Nikolai to inform him that his father, a miner in the Dombas region, had died. His father had been robbed of a large area of land in Karpati in 1918 after the Russian Revolution and it was now official policy that the land should be returned to its original owner's family and their title was handed down too. so Nikolai became a Count like his father before him. He also discovered he had a sister living in a cottage next to the estate. The title of 'Count' had been awarded to his ancestors for military prowess during the time of the Austro-Hungarian Empire before WW1. Nikolai also showed us photos of churches, festivals and marriages and talked about the traditions followed for marriages and funerals. Most surprising of all was his family estate, which included an 18th century French-style chateau which had been commandeered by the Soviets in 1918 as a centre for the communist party but is now a cultural centre and houses 18 Ukrainian refugee families from the war-torn areas of Ukraine. Nikolai visits Ukraine about 4 times a year and communicates with the village elders; his sister works as a farm manager. Nikolai, now in his seventies, is still classed as an army reservist! It was a fascinating talk and Pam Drower expressed our thanks to Count Nikolai.

Stop Press! Book club met at Angela's home this afternoon (June 15th) to discuss 'SPILL, SIMMER, FALTER. WITHER' by Sara Baume. which was shortlisted for the COSTA First Novel Award in 2015. A lonely. misfit man, Ray, adopts a one-eyed dog injured by a badger. This is the beautifully told story of how their relationship develops. It's probably most appealing to dog owners and dog lovers and people who love descriptions of the natural world, countryside and coast. Our average score was 7/10, with 2 members giving it 9/10 because it's a beautifully written and very moving book.

There will be no meeting in the People's Hall in July as we're having our summer outing then, so our next meeting in the People's Hall committee room will be on 9th August at 7.30pm when we shall be welcoming Rob David to talk about 'The Yellow Earl's Big Adventure' – that sounds intriguing! New members and visitors will be very welcome. For further details, please contact our President, Megan Taylor, by email: taylor71@hotmail.co.uk; or our Secretary, Valerie Welti, on 07969 376649

HOWGILL AND FIRBANK W.I.

Audrey Hoggarth We met at Firbank Church Hall on 1st June. On arriving at the Hall our speakers were very organised and ready to share their forgotten memories of Westmorland and Cumberland. Sarah gave a warm welcome to cameraman Jim Bowness and film producer Andrew Leitch who joined forces to gather a large collection of nostalgic films and photographs which we were all looking forward to seeing. Kendal was put on the map when in March 1841 Robert Miller Somerville opened his business, he learned his trade in London. This was an opportunity for Robert as a young enthusiastic hard worker, every town had one or two boot and shoe makers, in Kendal there were thirty! He set up business in Bridge End, Netherfield on the present site of the K.Shoes, where the head office and factory remained for the rest of his life, it was one of the most successful shoe making operations in the world., put down to it being a good product and having a good relationship with customers. They merged with Clarkes in 1981.

We were updated on the Royals visits, in 1956 the late Queen and Duke visited Appleby and Bowness and in 1971 Princess Alexandra visited the college. Cumbria in the 1950 meant Butlins holidays, Collapsible caravans, new kitchen gadgets, a modern age for teenagers and on to the swinging 60s. We enjoyed a nostalgic look back and trip down memory lane, Dyliss thanked Jim and Andrew for sharing their talk. Mary Stainton won the competition for an old family photograph.

Sixty members watched a screening of the AGM in Cardiff at Selside village hall, Gathy Smith from Bolton WI voted Yes for five groups although No for her own WI on the resolution to clean up rivers, she will speak to other WI s to explain their decision.

We meet again on July 6th at Firbank Church hall when Cat Field will talk about the trials and tribulations of a new spinner/weaver, visitors are welcome, see you there.

His association with Sedbergh began when he was posted as a security guard to Ingmire Hall, where he carried out duty on the south gate of the petrol dump for two years. Before being demobbed he went to France and Germany, but always kept in touch with friends he had made at Sedbergh, where they always visited for holidays Both are members of the Over Sixties Club and British Legion, and they both play bowls for the Sedbergh club. Last Wednesday Mr and Mrs Mort were presented with a bouquet of

Fellowship Meeting

The Garsdale Fellowship met at Garsdale Foot Chapel last week when Mr H.W. Bracken of Sedbergh showed a collection of his colour slides. These were mainly of Scotland, the Scottish Isles and the Lake District. The Rev H.S. Hills chaired the meeting, and two hymns were sung. The organist was Mrs A. Akrigg. A collection of 5 pounds and 80 pence was taken in aid of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

This is the fourth annual holiday to be organised in this way, the purpose of which is twofold: to give the parents a break, and to give the children a holiday. The leaders this year were Mr and Mrs Colin Holt. Mr Holt is the deputy head of the County Primary School, and Mrs Holt is the Domestic Science teacher at the County Secondary School.

Empire Line Gown for Jennifer

An employee of the Westmorland Gazette, Miss Jennifer Margaret Parkin, was married to Mr Terence Huck at St Andrew's Church. Sedbergh, on Saturday. Jennifer, who works in the accounts department at the Gazette, is the only daughter of Mr and Mrs F. Parkin of Beckside, Marthwaite, near Sedbergh, The groom is employed by Scottish and Newcastle Brewery, Kendal. He is the vounger son of Mr and Mrs J. Huck of 8 Castlegarth, Sedbergh, Given away by her father, the bride wore a white crepe empire line gown with fulllength train, trimmed with guipure lace. The bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Mason (friend of the bride and groom), and the Misses Jane and Julie Matthews (friends of the bride). Mr John Airey (friend) was best man. The service was conducted by Rev. D.A. Rogers, and a reception was held at The Bull Hotel. The couple left for their honeymoon on the East Coast, and they will live in Sedbergh.

EVACUEES IN SEDBERGH

Karen BruceLockhart Sedbergh was never inundated with evacuees as such because of the two mills at Fairfield and Millthrop being taken over by Armstrong Siddley.

At the beginning of the war things looked a bit different. Although in her diary my grandmother mentions feeding a large number of refugees in the week before war was declared, these cannot have been evacuees and were perhaps people fleeing Poland as the Germans invaded. Evacuees did not arrive in Sedbergh until 9th September, six days after war broke out.

Arrangements had already been made for the Kendal area to take 40,000 evacuees from the Dunham and Newcastle area. The first contingent sent to Sedbergh arrived as said on 9th December but came mostly from Bradford. This may have been because, of course, Sedbergh was then in Yorkshire

They were then billeted and the hosts had no choice about whether they could take them or not. If they had a spare room they had to accept them. The hosts were paid 8s 6d or

Supported by Sedbergh Community Trust Fund and Clutterbooks Design by Freepik.com about £25 in modern terms per week for each child. Compensation for damage to carpets, bedding etc was limited to £5 or again in modern parlance about £300.

The Town rallied round and did their best for the evacuees . For instance sewing classes were set up, and games were arranged for Saturday afternoons. Mrs Seville and her two children had to be removed to the Isolation hospital and as she received no Assistance money Mr Batty, the Town Clerk had to advance 10 shillings (around £30) to her

What people see to remember about those evacuees was their inability to find anything to do where they could not spend money in bright shops, dance halls etc. Suggestions that they might knit or sew or find other productive occupations were at first met with derision, although necessity changed this as time went on and the effect of rationing bit.

This was the time of the "phoney" war, and the fear of bombing faded so that by January many evacuees had returned home. However, Sedbergh was being asked to prepare to take 200, and it was difficult enough to house the 48 the Town had already received. In March leaflets were delivered asking for volunteer billets for refugees, but only 22 replies were received, and 12 of those already had evacuees. In May 1940 the Town Education Committee felt that the schools in the town could not cope with more. Although. Ybthis time the town only had 32, the Government was talking of allocating 600 to the district. Despite protests that this was impossible the town was told that nothing could be done

In November 200 were expected from London where the Blitz had begun, and 30 mothers and children did arrive and were accommodated in private residences. As a result of a house to house collection No.s 64 and 68 were being equipped nd furnished for refugee use, and permission had been obtained from the County Council for the Institution (the former workhouse) to be used proved ARP and public assistance were met. A canvas for accommodation carried out by the WVS showed that compulsory measures would be needed – and prosecution for refusal had already been reported in the Westmorland Gazzette. Any houses with empty rooms empty rooms had to accept boarders. Problems arose such as rooms said to be needed for children returning from boarding school in the holidays, but that excuse was not accepted, although efforts were to be made to accommodate such school children. The old and infirm could not cope with the extra people I the house when so many servants departed to the Forces or war work

At Christmas 1940 there were 50 evacuees in the National School, and the children of the town gave up their money for oranges at Christmas for the war effort. There were still 101 evacuees consisting of 20 unaccompanied children,45 accompanied children, 25 mothers and 11 "aged and infirm".

However, by the end of 1940 the threat of 600 evacuees had diminished. The Institution had already been requisitioned for war workers. When Mrs Makant at Thorns Hall offered to the west wing there to accommodate bombed unaccompanied children up to the age of five she was told Sedbergh was closed to evacuees, although in the end it was agreed to take them

Although no more evacuees were accepted, there were still evacuees living in Sedbergh. Since September 1939 386 had been accommodated, and over £1,000 (approximately equivalent to £60,000) had been paid out in weekly sums, which did not include five families living in rented accommodation for which rent had been paid. No appeals against billeting had been made which the Town Clerk said was gratifying as it showed that everyone was trying to help however disagreeable it was.

Sedbergh also escaped the second wave of London evacuees in 1944 when the V1 (doodlebugs) and V2 rockets were descending g on London, as any accommodation was more than take up by the munitions workers in Farfield and Millthrop mills. Kendal did receive about 1000 in July, 800 arriving in one day, and Kendal was somewhat indignant as they still had evacuees from Newcastle which was now a "safe" area and itself receiving evacuees from London.

DENTDALE AND GARSDALE KNITTERS

Colin Cowperthwaite The following passages were taken from a local handbook 'for the visitor and tourist', covering Dentdale and Garsdale. It was compiled by Frederic Riley and is undated, but was probably published during the 1930's.

Dent, as is well known, was in former times famed for its hand-knit hosiery, an occupation which was not by any means confined to the women folk. Southey speaks of the "terrible knitters of Dent". But except for a few elderly dames, who knit with more than ordinary skill, there is nothing to remind the visitor of the once famous Dent knitters thus described by William Howitt* : "Knitting is a great practice in the dales. Men, women, and children all knit. Formerly you might have met the waggoners knitting as they went along with their teams, but this is now rare; for the greater influx of visitors, and their wonder expressed at this and other practices has made them rather ashamed of some of them, and shy of strangers observing them. But the men still knit a great deal in the houses, and the women knit incessantly. They have knitting schools where the children are taught; and where they sing in chorus knitting songs, some of which appear as childish as the nursery stories of the last generation. Yet all of them bear some reference to their employment and mode of life; and the chorus which maintains regularity of action and keeps up the attention, is of more importance than the words. Here is a specimen:

Bell-wether o' Barkin cries baa, baa, How many sheep have we lost today? Nineteen have we lost, one have we fun; Run Rockie, run Rockie, run, run, run. (Rockie being the shepherd's dog).

These songs are sung not only by the children in the schools, but also by the people at their sittings, which are social assemblies of the neighbourhood; not for eating and drinking but merely for society. As soon as it becomes dark, and the usual business of the day is over and the younger children are put to bed, they rake or put out the fire, take their cloaks and lanterns, and set out with their knitting to 'gang a-sitting' in the house of the neighbour where the sitting falls in rotation, for it is a regular circulating assembly from house to house through the particular neighbourhood. The whole troop of neighbours being collected, they sit and knit, sing knitting songs and tell knitting stories".

Garsdale was also formerly a great knitting centre. William Howitt makes the following observations concerning the Garsdale knitters: "The old men sit there in companies round the fire, and so intent are they on their occupation and stories that they pin cloths on their shins to prevent their being burnt; and where they have come out to cool themselves, sitting in a row knitting with their shin cloths on, making the oddest appearance possible". (William Howitt, 1792-1879, was a prolific English history writer)

NOTES FROM DENT STATION Friends of the Settle Carlisle Line

John Carey

Well, the long-anticipated repointing work at the Station is now underway and Julian Wilkinson and his team of Rob and Seamus are doing a fine job with completion of the more exposed elevations expected by the end of June. We have been fortunate with the weather. although perhaps a little too warm at times for lime pointing. In a few weeks' time the protective hessian will be removed to reveal the finished work in all its glory. We will be then open for quests again! Meanwhile the platform elevation will be deferred to next May and should be an easier process. We also welcomed Philip Middleton to undertake joinery repairs to the Porter's doors and Roger Keighley on electrical work. Both provided excellent service as usual

It has also been a time for catch up with an extensive list of maintenance and renewals and I am fortunate to be assisted by local resident volunteers Ken McClurg and Colin Luckett as well as my long-suffering

wife, Kish. Ken is handy with a paint brush and practically anything else we can find for him whilst Kish is engaged on curtains. The carpark fence has been repainted and the grounds trimmed leaving the 'wilderness' area to explode in an array of wildflowers in a few weeks' time. It is pleasing to see the regular Swifts nesting back in the eaves and feeding their young.

But of course, as regular readers will be aware, Dent Station is just a preamble to my usual diatribe on public transport!

Whilst slightly away from the S&C, concerns at the moment must be dominated by the Woof's decision to withdraw the weekday W1 service between Sedbergh and Kendal for which local residents have our sympathy. This must be a worry to many who rely on the service.

To put into context, the W1 service ran without any local authority subsidy and, it is understood, between school transport when the vehicle and driver might have been otherwise stood idle. This makes perfect sense for a commercial operator where a public service can then be operated at marginal cost. Following the withdrawal of the council-supported 564 service between Brough and Kendal in November 2014, the W1 became the only regular weekday service operating between Sedbergh and Kendal. In November 2014 Western Dales Bus necessarily realigned their Saturday service to provide an increased frequency to Kendal. Thus, there remained a connection to the outside world for 6 days of the week. Mention should also be made of the 506 Kendal College bus which ran in term-time only, at the start and end of the day, but unfortunately withdrew from carrying the general public in 2020, during the Covid pandemic.

The reasons for the loss of the W1 could be various, but most probably down to hard economics at the end of the day. It is difficult for any operator to run a rural bus service on a commercial basis, that is, without subsidy or other contracts. Successive governments and councils have done little to improve the situation and it is certain that the rural areas of Cumbria failed to benefit from the much heralded 'Bus Back Better' initiative unlike urban counterparts. What is also needed is a root and branch analysis of transport provision and local needs. The powers that be should also ensure that home to school travel is linked to the provision of public transport wherever possible. In other words, one should not be awarded without the other.

It is often the case that rural transport market is distorted by council contracts which take no account of other needs. Notably, in some areas, it is impossible to get a taxi at certain times of the day due to such contracts. However, travel by taxi could provide a key part in rural transport particularly where small numbers of folks are wishing to travel, perhaps on a subsidised 'taxibus's basis.

It is to be hoped that the present problems can be resolved as soon as possible and it is certain that the new Westmorland and Furness authority must play a key role. It is unacceptable that Sedbergh, the largest community within the Yorkshire Dales National Park, should be without weekday public transport. Who knows, it could even result in a different and improved service, offering journeys to work and education. Now there's a thought!

Just up the road in Kirkby Stephen the town council experiment to reinstate the 563 bus between Kirkby Stephen and Penrith on Saturdays (withdrawn in 2016) is doing well and the community have got behind it. It just shows that these things can be done where there is a will. It may even be a stepping-stone to providing a weekday service in that locality.

However, enough of the gloom and despondency! Mention should again be made as to the government £2 fare cap initiative and the recent unexpected announcement of an extension of the scheme until the end of October 2023 and subsequent increase to £2.50 for 12 months after that. Of course, the £2 fare cap greatly benefits the areas that already have bus services but has done nothing to create much needed new bus services in rural areas. One argument is that it could also serve as a disincentive to new services.

Most bus operators have availed themselves of the £2 scheme as has the Western Dales Bus serving our very own Dent Station on a Saturday. Indeed, for an excellent day out, why not take the S1 Saturday bus departing at 0958 from Sedbergh Post Office to Dent Station and hop on the train to either Carlisle or Leeds? This would involve returning on the 1618 or 1824 trains from Carlisle or 1819 train from Leeds to catch the bus from Dent Station back to Sedbergh. Also, on Tuesdays and Thursdays it is possible to reach Penrith on the S6 service and Kendal via Kirkby Stephen on the S5. On Friday the S3 to Hawes runs from Dent village and Sedbergh during the summer season calling outside Farfield Mill enroute. Please check www.westerndalesbus.co.uk for bus running and times.

Over in the rest of the Yorkshire Dales, the summer Sunday DalesBus network comes into its own with services criss-crossing the National Park from various locations. All of these interchange with other buses and indeed the train where this is possible. The services, usually with full sized buses, rely entirely on fundraising and a volunteer management team who make sure that everything connects. This year passenger ridership is expected to be 40,000 and it is a relatively unique example of how things can be done. A recent development has been the Sunday DalesBus 855 link from Garsdale Station to Hawes and onward to Castle Bolton.

Back to the railway, it is disappointing that the spectre of industrial action has not gone away and we have again seen disruption and withdrawal of services at the start of June. It is almost certain that there will be further disruption to come. This can only further damage public confidence and it is certain that commuter numbers using the railway have diminished where there is a viable alternative such as the private car. For our line, the decline really commenced at the time of the Eden Brows landslip. The challenge for the train operator and the Community Rail Partnership is to win these passengers back, particularly with new housing development ongoing in several areas and the need to access employment and education. Recent census figures show the main centres of population increasing whilst some of the smaller communities diminishing presumably due to holiday homes. Another topic!

We also monitor the rail performance closely and are pleased to report that the commuter journeys have generally improved in May. In March, 39% of early morning journeys to Leeds or Carlisle were impacted by cancellation or late running, however, this had improved to 15% in May. Still not ideal but, nevertheless, an improvement. Performance on other journeys remains relatively unchanged, a large number of the delays or cancellations (other than strike) being due to allocation of crew. This is closely followed by infrastructure issues such as signalling which we take up with Network Rail. Whilst a larger part of the journeys are for leisure purposes, the Settle-Carlisle being what it is, it is essential that the railway performs a role in any rural transport strategy and also provides for longer distance connectivity.

Please do consider the opportunities to get out and use our public transport wherever possible. The portal for most bus journeys in the Yorkshire Dales can be found at www.dalesbus.org For rail journeys please consult www.northernrailway.co.uk which will give also details of any potential disruption. If we can be of any assistance on any bus or rail matter, please feel free to contact via john.carey@settle-carlisle.com and we would be delighted to help.

SEDBERGH COMMUNITY SWIFTS

Tanya and Edmund Hoare Make the most of this month - July is a peak time to watch swifts, with the breeding swifts being at their most active in feeding their chicks, together with the non-breeding swifts (those aged 1 to 4 years) flying around too.

Because this year the swifts' arrivals were so spread out, after those very early birds in April, there has been an overlap between the various pairs in egg laying and hatching. Our earliest arrival swifts at Lowgill set a new early record for laying eggs, starting on 17th May. and these chicks have hatched again a record - starting on 5th June. Yet the latest swifts to come back did not lay eggs until 5th June, so at the same time we had eggs just laid, eggs being incubated and chicks hatched. Two eggs is the average clutch, but the very good news is that of our breeding swifts we have a record 11 pairs with clutches of 3 eggs. The most we've ever had before being 5 pairs.

The picture shows 3 chicks in the nest at 5 days old.

The Black Bull, 44 Main Street, Sedbergh, Cumbria, LA10 5BL

With the fantastic weather for at least 3 weeks in May and June we hope there is plenty of food for these chicks. It has been so hot that chicks in some nests are panting, looking rather unhappy, but we have to remember that swifts successfully breed below roof tiles in other countries such as Spain and Israel. Chicks will spend 40 days in the nest being fed by both parents. It will not be until mid- July or early August that newly fledged chicks join the adults in the sky.

Swifts often appear to be flying around randomly high in the sky, and then suddenly coalesce into large groups all flying in the same direction and much lower. As they fly they emit their screaming call. No one really knows the reason for this behaviour. We believe it a way of socialising and exchanging information. Where have you been today? Where are the best places to find insects? Perhaps it is not too fanciful to imagine it is a way for mature but single swifts to chat up a potential mate! Other birds such as crows and starlings gather in groups before roosting. Świfts can't perch, so the only way a swift can do it is as they charge around in groups. An avian passeggiata, or speed dating! Who knows?

If you find a grounded adult swift, pick it up and let it rest in a box in the dark. Then take it to a nearby open area, place in the palm of your hand, raised as high as you can, and let it take off in its own time. Don't throw it into the air. If it doesn't fly, then give it more rest and some water if you can, then try to fly it again. (Soak a cottonbud in water and rub it along its beak). Don't feed it. Our details are below for more help. Chicks sometimes fall from the nest and if you find one, please get in touch as they need specialist care from rehabilitation experts. We may be able to foster them if we have a nest at Lowaill with chicks of a similar age. We have done this successfully several times and it is definitely the best way to rear fallen chicks if possible.

The national Swift Awareness Week is 1st to 9th July this year when groups all over the country will be putting on events and hopefully getting press coverage for these wonderful but endangered birds. We will be hosting swift watching at Lowgill on Friday 8th July in the morning, all are very welcome but booking is essential. If demand is great we may put on another date too.

Sarah Woof Roses. beautiful blooms, gorgeous perfume and colour in every direction, I adore my Roses. Trying to coax some to grow over my old pollytunnel frame is more difficult than I expected, left to own devises they grew forward yet now they are supported they want to go upwards.

Looking through old photos and realising that 'old' doesn't just mean 100 yrs. ago but even 50 yrs. ago when you look at the changes. Working on a project which will become 'A walk thru Dent from past to present', literally, I have been picking my brothers brains. One gem worth sharing is about a refined elderly lady who lived near the George and Dragon Hotel, every evening she had a glass of sherry delivered from them to her at home and on a silver tray.

Glorious weather day after day, this is the weather I remember from childhood, especially from holidays in Cornwall when I don't ever remember rain. All of us kids staying at Pendower House Hotel would chummy up and play on the beach or in the stream that flowed across it.

We clambered over rocks, found caves, ran to the cafe for ice cream or ice cream in glasses of Lemonade which we drank through a straw. (it never tastes the same at home). Walks up the valley had to be with an adult because of the snakes but we never saw any.

We're off to a wedding on Saturday and the weather is glorious, the ceremony is in the village here which is lovely and the old Church has been washed, swept and polished in readiness. Let the celebrations begin.

MAY WEATHER

B Wright

Perhaps one of the drier months I have ever recorded with a total rainfall of 28'4 mm (1.2"). This rain fell on 4 days. The rest were dry.

A most remarkable month. Temperatures have generally been higher than normal with few, if any, hard frosts. Again, winds have been lighter than would be normally expected for the period and from the usual quarter.

I am still waiting to see if my unexpected mating, when the tup jumped the fence, will produce any offspring. I can imagine she is well pregnant! Time will tell! Fortunately, it appears he didn't get the other older ewe. The lambs already born are doing well including the sole coloured which is very black with a white tuft on its head!

We have plenty of young rabbits running about. They have left plenty of holes!! At last, we have seen an owl It appears to be a larger female. The first indication that an owl is about, is the clacking of blackbirds!!

BURNS BECK MOSS FUNDING

Cumbria Wildlife Trust We have received funding from National Highways to repair 15 hectares of damaged peatlands at Burns Beck Nature Reserve near Sedbergh. The funds, which are part of the Network for Nature programme, will be used to restore this wild site off the M6 near Killington to a functioning bog, which can efficiently lock away carbon.

As part of the restoration, work will start on re-naturalising or remeandering a beck on the nature reserve, which had been straightened artificially in the past before we acquired the site. Restoration will enable water from the beck to spill out once more across sections of its floodplain, helping to rewet the landscape.

David Harpley, Director of Nature Recovery at Cumbria Wildlife Trust explained: "We're delighted to receive this funding from National Highways, to help us restore damaged peat bogs at Burns Beck Moss. The site was damaged historically through peat cutting and attempts to drain the site, by straightening and deepening the beck and later digging a network of drains. This was done to prepare for tree planting, which was never carried out.

"We need to repair the damaged areas of this site by restoring the river course, raising the water levels and removing scrub which is damaging the bog. If we don't restore the site, the bog will leak the carbon that it had locked away back into our atmosphere."

We plan to restore Burns Beck Moss Nature Reserve to a healthy functioning bog, teeming with wildlife, making it a wonderful place for people to visit and experience. It will be protected from trampling underfoot by a newly upgraded boardwalk and information panels will tell visitors about this special site and the rich wildlife to be found there.

David Harpley explained why healthy peatlands are so important: "Healthy peatlands are vital for humans. 70% of our drinking water comes from upland areas dominated by peatlands. They help slow the flow of rainfall in storm events, reducing the risk of flooding and are wonderful places for wildlife, from roe deer, hare, heron and snipe to tawny owl and reed bunting. Importantly, healthy peatlands are able to store CO2 and stop carbon being released into the atmosphere. Restoring wild places like these is now incredibly urgent as we begin to see the changes that the climate crisis is having on the natural world. We're working with nature to lessen the effects of climate breakdown and to help wildlife – and society - adapt to the changes and challenges that lie ahead. The cool wet climate of northern Britain makes Cumbria a key stronghold for these vital peatland habitats and we are on the frontline of efforts to restore and protect them."

Susan Stanley, Head of Designated Funds at National Highways said: "We're committed to significantly improving biodiversity near our road network, and the partnership with The Wildlife Trusts will be a vital step in delivering a more sustainable road network that protects and enhances the environment.

"At National Highways, our work goes beyond operating, maintaining and improving roads; we're investing in the environment and communities surrounding our network, helping to unlock the creation and enhancement of habitats, and this is an example of the difference we can make with designated funding."

Burns Beck Moss is a wetland nature reserve of raised and valley mires, and is home to many animal and plant species. Raised and valley mires rarely occur together on the same site, and only a small number of Cumbrian sites, near Torver and Winster, are similar. Whilst raised mires are totally dependent on rainfall for moisture, valley mires receive ground water containing dissolved minerals and nutrients.

Although the nutrient levels vary between the mires, both sustain a variety of plants, including 16 species of Sphagnum moss, bog rosemary, cranberry, bog asphodel, roundleaved sundew and marsh cinquefoil.

Wildlife highlights to look out for at Burns Beck Moss include migrant and breeding birds, such as curlew, sedge warbler, willow warbler, grasshopper warbler, meadow pipit and whinchat in spring and summer.

Burns Beck Moss is your closest CWT nature reserve just along the road from Killington Reservoir – it's in an absolutely glorious state at this time of year – go and have a look.

DEMENTIA ACTION WEEK

Myles Ripley We would like to thank all of you who attended our Coffee Morning at St Andrews on Wed May 24th at which we raised just over £250. We hope that you were able to learn a little more about dementia and took away some of our literature.

We also manned a stall in the Wednesday market on June 7th where we were again able to meet lots of people and chat to them about our work. We all know it is an increasing problem and all of us are at risk. There are no easy ways to avoid it so the more you know the better your chances of coping with it yourself or with someone you love and care for. If you are caring for someone with Alzheimer's disease or a related dementia, your role in managing daily tasks will increase as the disease progresses. Consider practical tips that can help the person with dementia participate as much as possible and enable you to manage tasks effectively.

Reduce frustrations

A person with dementia might become agitated when once-simple tasks become difficult. To limit challenges and ease frustration:

Schedule wisely. Establish a daily routine. Some tasks, such as bathing or medical appointments, are easier when the person is most alert and refreshed. Allow some flexibility for spontaneous activities or particularly difficult days.

Take your time. Anticipate that tasks may take longer than they used to and schedule more time for them. Allow time for breaks during tasks.

Involve the person. Allow the person with dementia to do as much as possible with the least amount of assistance. For example, he or she might be able to set the table with the help of visual cues or dress independently if you lay out clothes in the order they go on.

Provide choices. Provide some, but not too many, choices every day. For example, provide two outfits to choose from, ask if he or she prefers a hot or cold beverage, or ask if he or she would rather go for a walk or see a movie.

Provide simple instructions. People with dementia best understand clear, one-step communication.

Limit napping. Avoid multiple or prolonged naps during the day. This can minimize the risk of getting days and nights reversed.

Reduce distractions. Turn off the TV and minimize other distractions at mealtime and during conversations to make it easier for the person with dementia to focus.

Be flexible

Over time, a person with dementia will become more dependent. To reduce frustration, stay flexible and adapt your routine and expectations as needed.

For example, if he or she wants to wear the same outfit every day, consider buying a few identical outfits. If bathing is met with resistance, consider doing it less often.

Create a safe environment

Dementia impairs judgment and problem-solving skills, increasing a person's risk of injury. To promote safety:

Prevent falls. Avoid scatter rugs, extension cords and any clutter that could cause falls. Install handrails or grab bars in critical areas.

Use locks. Install locks on cabinets that contain anything potentially dangerous, such as medicine, alcohol, guns, toxic cleaning substances, dangerous utensils and tools.

Check water temperature. Lower the thermostat on the hot-water heater to prevent burns.

Take fire safety precautions. Keep matches and lighters out of reach. If the person with dementia smokes, always supervise smoking. Make sure a fire extinguisher is accessible and the smoke and carbon monoxide detectors have fresh batteries.

Focus on individualized care Each person with Alzheimer's disease will experience its symptoms and progression differently. Tailor these practical tips to your family member's needs.

Patience and flexibility — along with self-care and the support of friends and family — can help you deal with the challenges and frustrations ahead.

Citizens Advice Consumer Service for help with what to do next.

Citizens Advice Consumer Service received over 9,000 reports of scams between January to April 2023. The charity is urging more people to report scams to help protect others from falling victim. As scammers get ever more sophisticated it's more important than ever that we all work together to raise awareness, report scams and share our experiences to help protect ourselves from their tricks.

The most common scams faced by the public so far this year are malicious parcel delivery messages with scammers attempting to get hold of personal information or bank details. Several of the most frequently encountered forms of scams involve quite sophisticated impersonation of official organisations.

It is important to keep alert to signs of a scam. These include offers that seem too good to be true, like a holiday that's much cheaper than you'd expect, or pressure to send money quickly, or in an unusual way like by an iTunes voucher or a transfer service. Other clues are if you are asked to give away personal information such as passwords, PINs or verification codes - a reputable organisation will never ask for these things. Always step back and double check. If there is any hint that the organisation or person you are dealing with isn't genuine, such as a

Karen BruceLockhart The work going on at the back of Powell Hall is part of the preliminary preparations for the building of the Technical Centre. The work is in fact on the inside, not the outside, as it is conversion of a classroom into toilets to replace the ancient toilet at the far side of the present carpark, which is about to be demolished. Further preparatory work is the creation of a car park on the opposite side of the drive from Powell Hall.

At the end of May the sad news came that former master Michael Raw had died in his sleep while on holiday. He had nearly finished his book on the history of the School.

REV'D. DAVID CROUCHLEY

Rev'd. David Crouchley Dear Editor.

I have been Methodist Minister in the Western Dales since 2016. I am retiring at the end of July. Seven wonderful years.

In 2013 I retired due to ill health but after three years of rest and relaxation I felt ready to do something else. I was asked if I would come to Sedbergh and work 'two days' a week.

My wife Sarah and I had a conversation and agreed that we would be happy to come to Sedbergh. On arrival we immediately realised that in the Western Dales, a strong Community Spirit exists, something that sadly has disappeared in many areas. In the first few weeks of living here we had ample donations of cakes and meals.

The Methodist Church in the Western Dales has gone through a transformation in the last few years. and it has been a privilege to journey with them. We have merged a number of Chapels, i.e., in Garsdale and Dent, the Chapel in Dent has had a major refurbishment and is now used by many community groups. In both Garsdale and Dent, the Chapels work closely with the Church of England congregations. In Sedbergh our New Street Church has undergone a major refurbishment, we are delighted that members of the former URC have joined us and together we have renamed the Church, Cornerstone Community Church, we enjoy a close relationship with St Andrews.

For me one of the most positive things about the area, is the growing working together of the Churches, joint activities and joint Services, the sharing of Clergy. The appointment of a Pioneer Minister (Becca Gilbert) supported by the URC, Methodist and Anglican Churches. On my retirement, the Rev Andy Burgess will act as the Methodist Minister alongside his current responsibilities. This is ground-breaking Ecumenical work together. We believe that it is a way of working together in a Rural area, that is imaginative, sustainable and Ecumenical. The Western Dales Mission Community is the group that develops the closer working together of the various Churches.

I have wandered the roads and lanes around the Western Dales and particularly the Main Street in Sedbergh, and it has led to many meaningful conversations. I call it 'loitering with intent', immersing yourself in the local community!

The years have flown by, 'they do when you are enjoying yourself', we had the challenges of Covid-19, and of course bereavements and other challenging situations, but these were counterbalanced by many happy and joyful situations.

Sarah and I were delighted when our daughter (Becky), husband (Marco) and family moved to Sedbergh, it has been wonderful to see the three grandsons on a regular basis. We will be moving to Hornby, just outside Kirkby Lonsdale at the end of July, but we will be regular visitors to the Western Dales. Thank you for making us feel so welcome, we will never forget you.

TIM'S COLUMN

Tim Farron MP

As I write this Parliament, or at least the Conservative Party, is yet again distracted by the honesty of their former leader and our former Prime Minister, Boris Johnson. So it is a bit of a relief to be able to tell you about some of the things that I have been working on over the past few weeks that have, I hope, a bit more direct impact on all of our lives.

Buses and public transport in rural areas has been a theme for a fair bit of my time. Shortly after I sent my last column to Lookaround we heard the great news that the Government was extending the £2 cap on bus fares until October this year, replacing it at that point with a £2.50 cap on fares that will be in place until November 2024. I have repeatedly called on the Government to make this cap permanent. As far as I can see it there is no downside to encouraging people to use the bus more frequently. It reduces traffic, it encourages people to travel into our town centres, it makes it easier for a broad range of people to live in rural areas rather than just car drivers, it's good for the environment, the list goes on.

But bus services need more support than this fare cap. Along with other bus routes in this area we are seeing the loss of the W1 service that Woofs have been running from Sedbergh to Kendal and I worry that we will lose even more routes if nothing is done. A fare cap is of no use when there is no bus service to benefit from it. So I was pleased to secure a meeting a Michael Gove, the minister for Levelling Up to discuss what can be done to support bus services in rural areas.

I was even more pleased to learn that one of the first moves of our new Westmorland and Furness Council was to invest in helping our young people to use public transport both to travel to school but also with a discount scheme for all 5 - 20 year olds. On top of this they have announced they are investing £1 million in local sustainable transport with investment in cycling, walking and community transport schemes.

Young people have also been at the forefront of my work in other areas these past few weeks. I am sure anyone who has visited a café or pub over the past months will be aware of the desperate shortage of staff that they face. One thing that would surely help would be to train up more young people to work in this area. Which is why I was been particularly disappointed and a bit confused by the Government yet again delaying the introduction of the Catering T Level which was due to be introduced in September this year to "beyond 2024". I challenged the minister on this in Parliament the other day but received no indication that she had any plan in place to do anything about this issue.

As ever if there is anything I can do to help you please do send an email telling me about it to tim@timfarron.co.uk or give us a call on 01539 723403.

NEWS FROM THE PEWS

Susan Sharrocks Churchwarden It is not often the church doors can be flung wide to let the outside air in but the last few weeks this is getting to be the norm.

At times we have unexpected little visitors like the baby crow who was just sat on the stone floor quite unperturbed by the people around. It was eventually encouraged outside with the gentle swishing of a straw sunhat guiding it in the right direction. The next morning, I found the same bird sitting on the ground outside the south-east door. From the roof above I assumed it was mother crow calling him/her to fly up to her out of harm's way. I did not stay around to see what happened and have not spotted him/her again.

Other visitors have been enjoying the cool air offered inside the church, some joining in our services, others coming specially to admire the embroideries made by our local ladies in the 1990's.

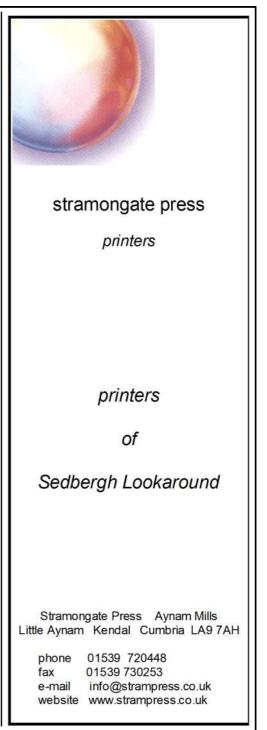

The Bank Holiday weekend was a busy time. The wall-to-wall sunshine was perfect for Emma and Alex's wedding day. Emma and dad, Adam, were able to walk down to the church from home. The bells rang out with joy for Emma who learnt to ring at St Andrew's and joins us whenever she visits family here. Bellringing friends of Adam joined the local team ringing before and after the service and again on Sunday morning which meant we had a full team of eight ringers for our United Service for Pentecost.

The United morning service led by Rev Andy Burgess, had a congregation in great voice led by a full choir from the our different churches. The rafters were well and truly rattled, even drowning the sounds of the passing motorbikes. After the service the weather was just perfect for our community barbecue. Passers-by, tempted by the smell of cooking came off the street and joined us for the tasty burgers, hotdogs and puddings to die for. As is the custom (we know not why), the men enjoy taking charge of the barbeque. It has to be said they did a great job.

Looking ahead we have the Summer Fair on Saturday 22nd July. Starting at 10am we shall have refreshments on the go, with seating in the marquee where you can take your time over your morning coffee, then linger for lunch, all the while listening to Rawthey Rhythm's toe tapping music. There will be games and a bouncy castle outside, crafts and other stalls, including cakes, inside, and Joel the fantastic entertainer for young and old alike. Something for everyone, do come and join us.

TALES OF SHEERING GAYE Sandra Gold-Wood Sheering Gaye Village. Recap.

The story began when Millicent Hart an eccentric elderly woman moved into Stanley Hall a substantial old Manor House over-looking the village green in Sheering Gave. Millicent quickly befriended a village child called Violet. Violet always believed the tales of Hollywood and the famous friends Millicent told her stories about. Millicent threw herself whole heartedly into village life and used her vast fortune helping to improve things for the village generally and organising trips out for the children. Violet grew up and became a teacher at the village school, Millicent and Violet

In 1973 Millicent died: her funeral was well attended by the villagers but no next of kin could be found. At the funeral four well know Hollywood celebrities turned up dumbfounding those present and all the villages realised that Millicent had been telling the truth about her life all along. The evening after the funeral Violet was staying at Stanley hall when close to midnight a knock on the door revealed a stranger who explained that he was Daniel Hart. Millicent's nephew. Daniel had been in Peru and the message had taken some time to reach him. Within a short time. romance bloomed between Violet and Daniel. A few days later when a letter arrived from New York solicitors Daniel discovered that he was actually Millicent's son.

After Millicent's funeral local reporter Dave Walker received some photographs of the famous visitors. The pictures had been taken by school boy Billy Raymond. Dave turned up in the village to see what he could find out. When he learnt some of the stories Millicent's had told he decided to write a book about her life. Dave found a friend in Lambert Quinn a teacher at the Village school and becomes his lodger. Lambert is desperately in love with Violet and he believes that his love is returned. After the school's very successful Christmas play Lambert takes Violet by surprise kissing her under the mistletoe. Violet shoves him away and Daniel gives him a talking to.

On Christmas day Violet visits her mother who is now going to marry the man in her life and move with him to Spain to start a new life. On the drive back to Sheering Gaye village Violet realises that her mother's decision frees her to go travelling with Daniel. Millicent had left her a substantial trust fund to enable her to choose how she wished to live but added the suggestion that she and Daniel, if they got on, should go travelling together as he was an experienced traveller. Violet parked her car in her usual spot and locked it in a hurry to get over to Stanley hall and tell Daniel her news. When suddenly she was grabbed from behind, and a hand was placed over her mouth. With all her strength she shoved her attacker away. Turning she was shocked to see it was Lambert. He dropped to his knees holding on to her while declaring his love and insisting that she loved him back. Violet's shouts had been heard by Daniel who came running. He pulled Lambert away from Violet sending him sprawling onto the dirty ground and announcing that if he touched her again he would kill him. Lambert picked himself up and sat in the bus shelter for a while and then walked off into the woods behind the shelter.

Boxing day found Billy Raymond and his friends, John and Robert out in the Woods playing with the walkietalkie sets they had been given for Christmas. They had been hiding in their newly built den eating their Christmas fare when the ground collapsed under them. When they saw what was revealed they scrambled out as quickly as they could. After a serious chat in the relative safety of the bus shelter they resolved to go to the police house and tell PC Alders.

PC Alders, after inspecting what the boys had uncovered called his sergeant and the bomb squad were informed. The arrival of the bomb squad brought all the villagers out in force. Caretaker and postman George Billings opened the village hall and got tea and biscuits going. The bomb squad had a look at the bomb but it was not one they had knowledge of and so another squad had to be sent for. Meanwhile everyone chatted happily in the hall or around the village green. When second squad turned up they also went to the village hall where they were convivially welcomed and more tea and biscuits were enjoyed. The villagers and the soldiers were reminiscing about their experiences in WWII. When there was an almighty explosion.

The deafening explosion sent everyone in the hall onto the floor. When the dust settled the two captains led the way outside. The bus shelter had been blown across the green and there was debris everywhere. Violet and Daniel came out shocked to see such a chaos. Benches from outside the Swan were scattered and broken. The villagers looked on stunned to see such a mess.

A couple of soldiers were sent to check the bomb site by Captain's Hogarth and Dawson who also told the members of their squads to begin clearing up. Seeing this the villagers joined in. The two soldiers who had gone to the bomb site came back saying they had found something very sinister. The story continues;

Sheering Gaye Village After The Bomb! by Sandra Gold-Wood

The whole squad of soldiers, Captain's Dawson, Hogarth, PC Alders, Sgt Poulson headed to the bomb site. The explosion had cleared a huge area and debris lay all around. Many inquisitive villagers followed the soldiers, amongst them Billy and his pals who were stealthily threading their way to the front of the crowd wanting to be first at the scene.

Dave Walker, erstwhile reporter for the Denham Chronical, watched them go he had already viewed the crater. After the bomb had exploded he had followed the first solders back to the site. Careful to stay concealed he'd waited until the soldiers went off to report what they had found. Once they were out of sight Dave guickly investigated the area taking photographs with his new Canon camera. Dave felt elated; he was sure he had a national news story on his hands. Knowing that the discovery of the bomb would have made the middle pages of the Daily's and the explosion would perhaps have made the front pages but, now with this story and his photos he was certain to make all the Daily's, the Broadsheets and maybe even the TV News.

When Captains' Dawson, Hogarth, the soldiers and villagers arrived at the bomb site a deep silence overcame them all. In front of them was a huge crater, around which was a mass of tangled and broken trees lying at odd angles giving the site an eerie appearance. The closer they came to the crater the harder it was to avoid treading on the skulls and bones that were strewn all around. A few brave villagers stepped up to the craters rim along with the police and the Captains, all were astonished at what they saw. Captain Hogarth was first to speak:

'What do you make of it Captain Dawson.'

'I haven't the foggiest, looks a bit like some kind of well, and there's an awful lot of bones, how did they get there?'

Hearing this Billy spoke up, having been egged on by his pals, John and Robert. 'Please Sir, shall I go and get Mr Perry, only he's the History teacher and he might know something.'

This suggestion was being considered just as Daniel and Violet arrived on the scene. Stepping up to the Captains, Daniel explained that he had some archaeological experience and would they mind if he took a closer look. The Captains and Sgt Poulson agreed and Daniel climbed carefully down into the crater. Daniel called back up saying it looked to be Roman, and as far as he could tell the bones were both human and animal and that this was probably part of a much bigger Roman site.

Meanwhile, PC Alders had been sent back to the village hall to see if Mr Perry was able to come and have a look. Mr Perry was sitting in the one and only armchair in the hall. PC Alders touched him lightly to wake him saying, 'Come on Arthur, you're missing all the fun.' Getting no reply PC Alders spoke a little louder and gave Mr Perry a shake. But Mr Perry had left this world for the next, and so PC Alders left him where he was and re-joined everyone at the Bomb site. Alders informed Sgt Poulson of Mr Perry demise, saying he'd pop back to the police house and call the local undertakers. 'Yes, right that's probably the best thing,' the Sqt agreed. PC Alders strode across the Green, passed the Swan and rounded the corner to the Police house. The sight he beheld both disturbed and amused him. There was Sqt Poulson gleaming new Ford Cortina, only now it was not quite so smart as a large chunk of tree had landed on the roof flattening it. Alders wondered how his Sgt would take the news, he'd only taken delivery of the car a few weeks back. Inside the Police house. Alders checked for damage, there were a few broken windows and his garden looked rather wind-blown but he could see no serious problems. Picking up the phone he called the Colin Graham undertaker at home knowing he would not be in the office on Boxing day; and what a day he thought to himself as he waited for the phone to be answered. Poor old Arthur Perry. what age would he have been he wondered, he thought too about his girlfriend and how she was missing all the fun. Brenda was nurse at Denham general where she lived in the nurse's guarters, he'd call her later. Back, at the crater Alders told George Billings, caretaker and postman about Arthur Perry, explaining that the undertaker was on the way.

Around the crater people were trying to work out what should be done. All agreed that the site could not be left unguarded. 'Can't have people picking up bones and such,' stated Captain Hogarth. 'Quite' agreed Captain Dawson. The boys;

John and Robert promptly dropped the bones they had been examining before anyone spotted them. While Billy reluctantly gave up teasing John's sister Silvia with a skull he picked up.

Before they left the Captains' put a number of soldiers on guard and then went off to the Swan as it had just opened. In the bar the situation was discussed at length with the villagers chipping in. All agreed the site should be covered with tarpaulin and guarded round the clock. Captain Dawson, borrowing the pub's phone put in a call to Limster barracks to inform Colonel McElroy. The Colonel was surprised, interested and delighted to have something to get involved with as life in the Army in peace time wasn't to his liking. 'I'll have a squad there post haste Dawson don't you worry.'

Replacing the receiver Colonel McElroy rubbed his hands together gleefully as he marched off, a big smile on his rugged face, to round up some willing or unwilling volunteers.

At around 4.30pm Sgt Poulson, and the Captains left the Swan and made their way to the police house. Alders hung back as the party turned the corner and the Sgt's car came into view. Alders had of course mentioned that the police car had been damaged but had not explained the details. Sgt Poulson just stood there a look of disbelief on his face while Alders hastily ushered the Captains into the Police house so that they would not hear Sgt Poulson venting his anger.

By nightfall the village had settled down: Soldiers had come from Limster barracks and they got to work immediately covering the site with tarpaulin and setting up a round the clock guard. Before they left the soldiers attached to the bomb squads helped the villagers to board up broken windows and clear debris. Sat Poulson had informed the local Coroner of the archaeological find. Then Colin Graham had taken Arthur Perry to the Chapel of rest and his family had been notified. Dave Walker had called his friend Ken, a photography enthusiast who had all the gear to develop his photos. This done Dave phoned in his exclusive News story, selling it and his photographs to the Express.

The next task was to get hold of a currier who was working on boxing day. Dave had to call in a few favours to do it but managed to get a motorcycle courier to pick up the photos and they were at the Express press office in just over an hour. Of course all the news networks would have the story by morning and he guessed so would the TV people.

Such was his joy he had not noticed the absence of Lambert Quinn until he went back to his house to find that there was still no sign of him. 'Where on earth is he?' Dave asked the empty house while trying to think if Lambert had said anything about going to visit his parents. Shrugging his shoulders, he went to bed and looked forward with glee to the new day.

The night passed. Sheering Gaye Villagers slept peacefully. John and Silvia Moffat's older sister Margaret, sat at her dressing table and wrote a letter to the soldier she had met just as he had asked her to. Margaret closed her eyes and felt the touch of his kiss again then she sealed the letter ready to post.

The sun was bright but the day was bitingly cold, crisp and clear. George Billings was in the Post Office sorting the day's papers ready for the delivery boy when the headlines of the Express caught his eye. 'Well, I'll be a monkey's uncle, what's this?' Dora Rowe post mistress and lady friend of Roger Croft owner of the Swan, attracted by Dora gasped, her hand automatically going to her mouth. While outside a number of large vans rolled into the village. To be continued.

LOOKAROUND DETAILS

LOOKAROUND INFORMATION

The Sedbergh & District 'Lookaround' is edited, published and distributed monthly by the 'Lookaround' editorial team of volunteers and printed by Stramongate Press, Kendal.

The content of 'Lookaround' does not reflect the views of the editors and whilst every effort is made to ensure that information is correct, the editors cannot accept any responsibility for inconvenience caused through errors or omissions; if there is an error in your article or advert, please contact the editor as soon as possible.

The current issue is available from Sedbergh Tourist Information Centre, Rycrofts, Sedbergh Post Office and Spar. Also from Dent Stores, the Barbon Churchmouse and by post (please address enquiries to the editor). Back copies are available to read at the History Society Archive at 72 Main Street or online at www.lookaround.org

Items for the 'Lookaround' should be emailed to:

editor@sedberghlookaround.org.uk

posted to 'Lookaround' c/o 72 Main Street, Sedbergh, LA10 5AD or deposited in the 'Lookaround' post box at the same address.

ARTICLES

Articles and reports are inserted for free and photographs may be included (depending on space). Articles should ideally be submitted as a word attachment to an email addressed to the editor rather than as the text of the same email. The font should be 'Arial', 11point and the piece should be single spaced and with as few 'hard returns' or paragraphs as possible. This is to make the job of proofing and formatting easier and also to ensure that all articles have the same impact and appearance.

Please put the title on the first line at the top of the article and the author's name on the second line. If you include images with your article please indicate where you feel they would be best placed. Conforming to these requests very much helps the proofreaders/formatters in getting your article to the compiler for printing in good time.

We are very happy to accept handwritten or typed pieces, if handwritten please use capitals to help us transcribe the article accurately and again, please place the title on the first line and the author's name on the second line.

CALLING ALL ADVERTISERS

As advert contracts expire over the course of the year we will be emailing to remind you. Please don't forget to renew as we depend on you.

New advertisers are, of course, always welcome too.

PUBLICATION DETAILS

Our distribution area is the LA10 Postal District which is Sedbergh & the surrounding villages, but it is sent all round the country & the world.

We are published on the 1st of every month (except January).

February to November is printed black ink on white. The December/ January issue may be in full colour. All copies have a full colour cover by a local photographer.

The closing date for everything is 15th of every month.

ADVERTISING

Please see page 4 for the main points on advertising in Lookaround. Further details can be found below.

PERSONAL MESSAGES

These are £1 each & are for sending Good Wishes, Thank You's, Birthday Greetings, Anniversaries & any other celebration or congratulation. You may also sell personal items but not on a business basis, & also make an appeal for wanted items.

Details with respect to people Passing Away are inserted for free.

Please ensure your submission is legible. We want to make sure we publish what you want us to publish. GROUPS AND ORGANISATIONS

Any organisation that charges an admission, sells items or requires a donation from the public for anything at their event & wishes to include details in The Lookaround, are requested to place an Advert with us. This can be supported by text which cannot all be included in the advert. Any report after the Event is free. The request for payment for an Advert is to assist with financing The Lookaround which has a large printing expense every month. We feel that the Advertising Rates are very reasonable (for the last 18 vears). All Adverts for Events automatically have the details entered into the Diary Page at the rear of The Lookaround. If organisations do not wish to Advertise with us, details of the Event will still appear on the Diary Page, but no text will be inserted.

BUSINESSES

Adverts for the Rent or Sale of property are not Personals & can only be included as a boxed Advert.

If you are a new advertiser in Lookaround & you order 3 or more adverts, you will receive one free advert & can also include some text explaining who you are, what you are, where you are, etc (which can not all go into an advert) up to about 550 words for free.

If you have more than 3 months of advertising, we will automatically send a renewal reminder should you wish to continue. If you order 10 months, we give you one free (making one whole year). See page 4 for information on how to pay.

CHILDREN'S BIRTHDAYS

Children's Birthdays are included free on the Birthday Page. Please send us the date, name and age of your child before the submission date (15th of the month) of the issue when the birthday should appear.

COVER PICTURES

If you have any pictures to go onto the cover of Lookaround, please send a high definition copy with the location and your name, and you will be credited. If the interest of the picture is in the centre it will be difficult to use as the centre is on the spine. Each half of the picture needs to work as one cover (back is the left hand side, front is the right).

LOOKAROUND BY POST

We will post Lookaround to you in the UK at a cost of £30.00 for an Annual Subscription, or anywhere in the world for £6.00 per issue.
